

Junior Girl Scout Troop 6219 wanted to volunteer in the community and found a perfect opportunity with NOVACO. After much brainstorming about how they could help, the girls decided to cook and serve a meal at a NOVACO Monday night Life Skills class. They read recipes, chopped vegetables and measured ingredients. While the client moms attended class, they entertained the children with various crafts. One young boy came up to a leader and asked if they were coming back next week!

The Troop did come back to donate their extra Girl Scout Cookies to NOVACO. The families are very thankful for all of the hard work and delicious food donated by this thoughtful Girl Scout troop.
